Innovation in Decorative Laminates

LuxCoreTM

A new dimension in translucent laminates

What is LuxCore? LuxCore is a proprietary fiberglass reinforced translucent panel imaged with ATI's FusionTech™ process. The characteristics of LuxCore allow the use of thinner materials; saving weight, material and costs. Available in endless combinations, LuxCore can be a translucent panel or, with an added backer, a laminate. The backed laminates can also be backlit as they retain some translucency.

Seven standard background colors can be added to any stock design or choose your own background color for a custom look. Find more information about the background colors, as well as other product information, on page four.

LuxCore Translucent Panels are suitable for modesty panels, room dividers, door inserts, shower enclosures and other interior applications where translucency is desired.

LuxCore Laminates are suitable for backlighting; they can be used as a wainscot or wallcovering, where high abrasion and impact resistance are vital; such as hospitals, restaurants, grocery stores, table tops, elevators, restrooms and other interior applications where laminates are desired.

All LuxCore are perfect for all kitchens, bathrooms, and other wet environments. LuxCore passes sanitary codes, is easy to clean, and is not damaged by water. They can be used for most vertical and horizontal applications.
